STORY

Perellel Universe Game Industry World

In this world where Megami reign over 4 continents, there was a single incident—due to『Majekonnuj's CD copying and rempant monsters the world collapsed into a ruinous crisis.

But the 4 Megemi combined their powers, and that plot was blocked、seving the world.

……But,
In the Game Industry World、 problems are still a piled-up mountain!

To bring about public peece to Game Industry World、the Shugo Megemi that Neptune establishes, for the sake of the populace、are living every day tackling challenges……。

Purple Heart

Neptune

Shugo Megemi Neptune. Normslly an honest、bright、and lively girl、as well as a cute foolish child. After transforming、as『Shugo Megemi Personification Purple Heart』、she displsys composurs and kssnness like that of a different person、but togsthsr with a littls slow mindedness.

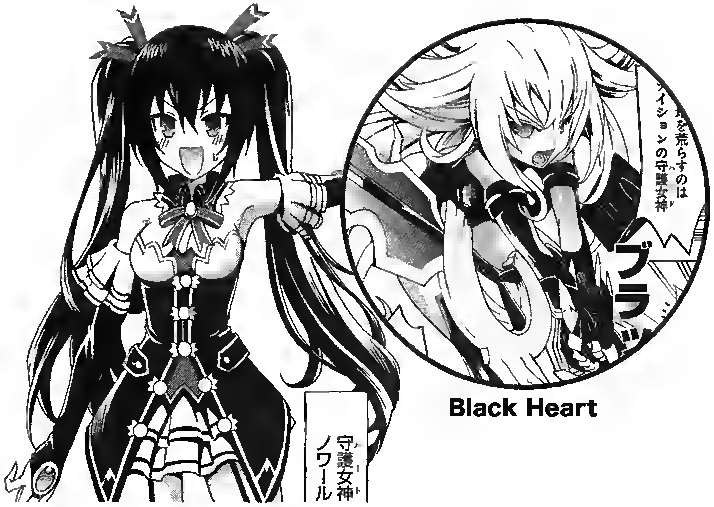
NEPTUNE Comics by Bermudo Saimoru The original by COMPILE HEART

CHARACTER



Black Heart

Noire

Lastations Shugo Megami。A firm character、and an ideal and celebrated Megami、but tries too hard and is the type that spins in the air fruitlessly。After transforming she becomes 「Shugo Megami Personification Black Heart」 and has a confident and determined-to-win personality that ends up exhibiting her strength and OCCASIONALLY injures herself。

White Heart

Blanc

Lowee's Shugo Megami。It is unseen whether she is not good with people or whether she is thoughtless in front of people。Somehow or another、it seems like a personality that saves things up、but [illegible]? After transforming、as 「Shugo Megami Personification White Heart」 [illegible] the barrel binding becomes easier to fall off、maybe。

Vert

Leanbox's Megami Shugo。With a gentle personality and a feminine busty demeanor、her popularity and fame are high。However、ignoring her official business、she even gets caught up in games[illegible]。After transforming、as 「Shugo Megami Personification Green Heart」、she displays high combat power。

Green Heart

※TL Note：「the barrel binding becomes easier to fall off、maybe。」- This is an expression in Japanese。Basically it's referring to the circular bindings that are used to hold barrels (which are basically planks of wood set next to each other) together。If a barrel's "bindings are a bit off"、then the barrel will fall apart。If a person's "bindings are a bit off"、it basically means that the person is unrestrained

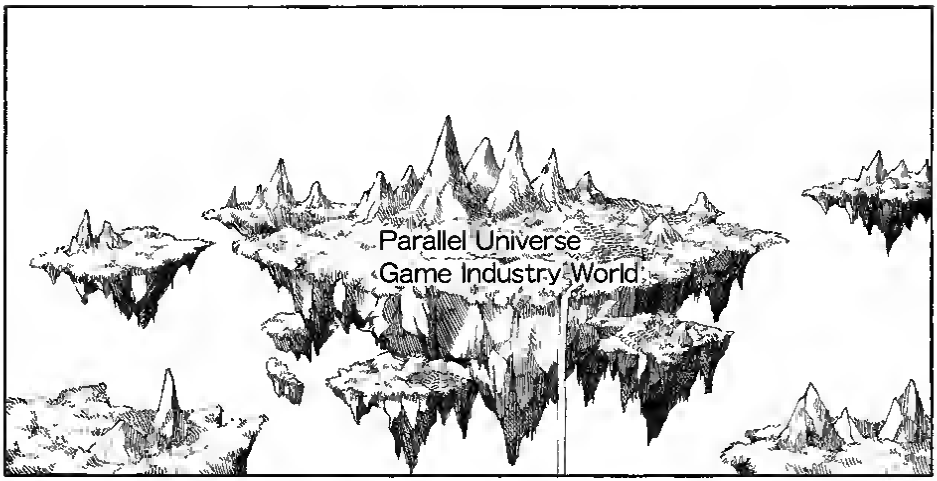
CONTENTS



However, because of the Hard Shugo Megami that protect the 4 continents, the plot was crushed, and peace came.
In the Game Industry World, previously, a single major incident happened.

※TL Note: "Hard" is short for "Hardware" or "Hard Drive"
"Megami" means "goddess"
"Shugo Megami" means something like "Protection Goddess(es)". The JP says "Shugo Megami" with the furigana "Hard" for it almost every time (there are a few exceptions).

TRANSLATOR NOTES

Pages 008

White Heart's Sound Effects - White Heart has a prominent forehead, right? Well, basically, Bermuda-sensei (this manga's artist) did something cute with the sound effects for White Heart—Whenever there's SFX for her with a "n" (「ン」, katakana "n") character in it, he makes it look a LOT like the character for "forehead" (「凸」, "deko", forehead). You can see this on page 008 and on page 020 in the last panel. (At least, I think it was done on purpose. Maybe I'm reading too much into it.)

Page 012

"So MY PACE is OK—" - The "MY PACE" ("mai peesu," 「マイペース」) here is a Japanese neologism or whatever. It just basically means "to do things at one's own pace" (or in this case, "to do whatever one feels like doing").

"Iisun" - "I—sun" (「いーすん」) is Neptune's nickname for Histoire. (I think NIS America's localization is "Histy" or something. Whatever.)

"That sounds like a suspicious product, ne…" - In case you are neophytes at Japanese culture and cults in general and need the meaning of this line explained. Basically members of cults are often popularly depicted as going around selling products that will bring good fortune for exorbitant amounts of money.

"You're lumping that together with the oblaat…" - Wikipedia "oblaat." It's the glassy-looking, tasteless stuff that coats candies and makes them look pretty. Noire is tsukkomi'ing Neptune by saying that Neptune is lumping "that" (the part about "sucking up") with the "oblaat (the pretty looking part—Neptune saying she's going to do her best)."

Yes, the translation for this line by the other group that has done this chapter completely ignores the original Japanese.

General Notes

"Majekonnu" (「マジェコンヌ」) - Apparently the US localized name for Majekonnu is "Arfoire". Anyway, her real name is "Majekonnu" which is a reference to "majikon" in Japanese which is basically the act of copying video games and computer games by making images of the discs.

"Game Industry World" - Sorry but "Gamindustri" sounds way too lame. The Japanese is "Geimugyou kai."

"Hard" - This is short for "hardware" or "hard drive" (I guess) in Japanese, pronounced "haado". Apparently the US localization for this is "CPU (Console Patron Units)"? wut. Anyway, whenever you see "H a r d" above "Shugo Megami," it means that the furigana reading is "Hard" and that the "Shugo Megami" kanji should be pronounced as "Hard". If the "H a r d" is not present, then you are supposed to read it as "Shugo Megami."

If you don't understand, go level up your Japanese.

> tl;dr: If it says "H a r d" above "Shugo Megami", you pronounce it as "Hard" (haado) and not as "Shugo Megami."

Histoire's Text - In manga, Japanese text is generally printed vertically and is read starting from the top right → bottom right → start again at the top of the next left line. Basically right-to-left vertical text. However, Histoire's lines are different; her lines are read left to right horizontally, as one would normally read text on a computer, for example. This is significant (even though you may not think so).

On top of that, Histoire uses a lot of emoji (emotes) in her speech. Furthermore, the font used for Histoire's speech in the Japanese is a font that is typically used for voices being heard over electronic communications, and none of the other characters use this font. Obviously, Histoire's dialogue is supposed to give the impression that it is being typed out and/or spoken through/by a computer. (We use a Japanese manga font that is pretty much extremely similar to Histoire's original font.)

The 「っ」 characters EVERYWHERE - Basically a small "tsu" character (so 「っ」 as opposed to 「つ」). It's a bit difficult to describe what they do in situations like these. The role it plays is a kind of emphasis that can almost be thought of as an exclamation point—but not really.

That's right! Nee, look at this!
It was really great that you went and hunted a turkey ♡
おいしい？
Ah——
To think that we could enjoy the Christmas of ordinary people ne
This is the best, ne ♡

Yummy。

Delicious? Blanc-chan

Ah.
SFX: Pou (Glowing)
Merry X'mas!
Eh— Not especially —?
Ha ha ha
Wai··· what's with that face! Just now, were you thinking of something strange··!?
SFX: Kusu (Giggle)
Though it's tiny and short,
it's a perfect Christmas, ne!
1 draw out of 30 turkeys' parts was spot-on, ne!
isn't that a candle! You were able to do an am···zing purification, ne!
Ehhen
And so—
O-hohhohho
Heeh
Right, ne··· Ah— The candle's fire is dying out, ne———···

TRANSLATOR NOTES

Page 031 "It's hunting time…" - "KARI NO JIKAN DA 」" (「カリノシカンダ 」) - This is a reference to the Japanese version of Alien vs. Predator where the text "KARI NO JIKAN DA" 「カリノジカンダ」 appears at the beginning of the game. By the way, note that Neptune and Noire's equipment in this scene is clearly parodying Monhan (Monster Hunter)
